I hope this letter finds you most importantly healthy and safe. Many countries and areas are imposing much-needed restrictions to slow the spread of COVID-19, we understand these restrictions are causing you unprecedented disruption to your business and daily life. As we learn to settle in this new "normal" and adjust to the dynamics of the situation, I want to tell you that IBM stands with you during this turbulent time.

IBM Data Science and AI Elite (DSE) team is fully open for business and committed to help you thrive and succeed in your AI adoption. Here are a few examples of what we are doing:
